A Fire Raging For Nearly Forty-Five Years—Worms' Journal, August 1.
A fire in a colliery is by no means an uncommon occurrence in this or any other coal region; but in most cases the fire is soon extinguished, the water removed, and mining continued as before. It is only on an occasional and rare occasion, however, that the fire is discovered, that it can be extinguished in a few weeks by the introduction of water and steam. One of the most interesting and extensive fires ever known in this country has been raging in a colliery in Schuylkill county for nearly forty-five years. It is now estimated that more than $1,000,000 of dollars have been spent in vain endeavors to extinguish the fire, but at last the idea was abandoned, and since the beginning of the war nothing has been done to subdue the conflagration, which rages without interruption. The history of the mine is a story of tragedy and horror, and it is a story which has been told in many of the newspapers of this country. The vein that is burning is called the "Juglar," and the surface crop was first worked in 1833 by Lewis E. Dougherty, at a place called Coal Castle, one and a half miles west of what is now known as Mount Laffie. The coal taken out was of an excellent quality and the mine very productive. Where a drift is worked above water level it is the custom to keep a huge grate filled with burning coal just inside to prevent the water in the gutters from freezing. Such a grate was in operation in the upper drift of Mr. Dougherty's mine in the winter of 1835. One Saturday night the grate was filled with an unusually large quantity of coal, and the miners went to their homes. On the following Monday morning when the mine was visited, it was found to be filled with flames. It is supposed that the fire on the grate became communicated to the timbers, and moving along the upper drift by means of an air-hole, carried into the lower drift. At any rate, the coal in both drifts was on fire when the men came to work on Monday morning, and two of the miners recklessly went in to save their tools and never returned.

Efforts were made to extinguish the fire, but, after working for several weeks, Mr. Dougherty gave up all hopes, and abandoning the place, opened another colliery about half a mile west of the first. During the summer of 1836 Mr. John McGinnis, of Portville, heard of the large body of coal that lay near the abandoned mine, and concluded that some of it could be got out without reaching the fire. He put in a slope on the east side of the vein and below the water level. The work, however, progressed slowly, and owing to the heavy masses of rock encountered was very expensive. He was finally rewarded by striking the "juglar" vein at a point where there was a deposit of coal so thick that two or three miners could keep the breaker going, and although it was worked for months, they never succeeded in getting through it. The coal was of a very high class, and 400 yards of gangway had been driven when the miners began to complain of excessive heat, and then Mr. McGinnis knew that they were approaching the fire in the mine Dougherty had abandoned. This was about a year after the slope had been started, and Mr. McGinnis knew that it would be necessary to open an air-hole. This work was begun at once, but after driving twenty or thirty yards the heat became so intense that the workmen were almost suffocated, and many of them refused to continue. By paying double wages, however, a number of men were found willing to work in the air-hole; some of the intense heat may be seen when it is stated that the men worked perfectly naked, and were relieved every ten minutes. After the air-hole had been opened about fifty yards the heat became unbearable, and the men retired when exposed to it a minute or two. Seeing that it was impossible to complete the air-hole, work in it was given up, and at a fortunate time, for it was afterwards discovered that the hole had been carried up a few yards further, it would have struck the water on the level and drowned every one in it. About this time the miners noticed that when a shot was fired, the coal was rolling down in huge masses; it was so warm that it could not be comfortably handled. Every day the miners expected to see the fire break out, and at last, on coming to work one morning, they found the gangway filled with smoke and fire. As this was expected to happen sooner or later, preparations had been made to extinguish the fire, and the mine was soon filled with water. This treatment had the desired effect, and when the water was pumped out work was resumed.

From this time forward it was almost a continual fight with fire, and no less than eight times was the colliery filled with water and pumped dry again. The ninth time the mine was filled with water and the pump worked out of order, and as Mr. McGinnis had sunk all his capital, and could not raise enough money to purchase new machinery, the mine was abandoned in the winter of 1839. The fire continued to burn until the barriers between the mine were consumed, and the timbers in McGinnis' mine gradually rotted away, and finally the slope saved in 1839 that still now in the mine has continued without interruption, and the coal has been consumed for half a mile in every direction. The ground has caved in in many places, leaving great chasms that vary from fifty to 100 feet in depth. Travel over the burned district is exceedingly dangerous to any one not familiar with the country, for in many places great holes are only covered by a shell of burned earth three or four feet thick. McGinnis' mine is so famous as familiar as he is with the locality, he came very near losing his life there a few years ago, by falling through the crust. He was crossing a portion of the burned field when he felt the earth giving way under his feet, and, on starting to run for firm ground, he sank up to his chest in dry ashes and burned earth. Fortunately he managed, with the assistance of a friend, to extricate himself and reach solid ground without injury. Inhabitants of the region never attempt to cross over the burning vein at night.

The only external evidence of the great conflagration that is going on underneath the ground at that point is the total absence of vegetable life. Stones on the surface of the ground are so hot that they cannot be held, and snow is melted as fast as it falls. During rainy weather the surrounding country is enveloped in dense clouds of fog and steam rise from the overheated earth. The fire has now burned across the top rock and into a dirt vein, or vein of soft coal, where it may last for many years. During the early part of Mr. McGinnis' connection with the mine, it was noticed that the water oozing into it from the levels above had the effect of destroying the miners' shoes as soon as they came in contact with it. The water was not unpleasantly warm, and the men found that if it was washed with it a speedy cure followed. The curative qualities of this water soon became known, and hundreds of people flocked to Coal Castle during the summer of 1840 to test its merit. Remarkable cures of rheumatism, sciatica, and other diseases are said to have been made, and consequently, the water attracted a great deal of attention all over the country, and hundreds of barrels of it were shipped to Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Baltimore. A regular physician established himself near the burning mine, bath-houses were erected, and for several months the place was filled with strangers. After the mine was abandoned, however, and left half-full of water, it was difficult to obtain the mineral water that performed the cures, and the place began to lose its reputation, the doctor left for parts unknown, the shipment of water ceased, and the place was left to be regarded by many people, and, being strongly impregnated with alkaline earths, its medicinal virtues are, no doubt, very great. The property is now owned by the Philadelphia and Reading coal and iron company, and is seldom visited by any one except huckster-pickers and country people, who come to carry away jugs full of the wonderful water.

AN INDIANA HERMIT.

The Eccentric Career of a Man Who Has Just Died.
Trafalgar, Indiana, Dispatch to Cincinnati Gazette.

Henry Stokes, more familiarly known as the "Old Bachelor," died at his residence, two miles out of this village, last night, aged sixty-five years. He was a very eccentric character, but he had a life where he died. He owned a farm and lived on it in a little cabin by himself. He came here a young man, and is not known to have a single living relation. He was never sick before, and doing his own cooking, never going away from home or allowing any one to remain with him, and so serious was he for seclusion that not even a cat or dog was allowed to exist about his humble habitation. He raised no stock of any kind, and hence it is not hard to conclude that his intense seclusion was a disconcerting in love affairs when quite a young man was the cause of his hermitage. This has grown on him to such an extent that he seemed to doubt everything except his own existence, even going so far as to say that the late war was only a trick of the money power to run things up to high prices, and even doubted that there really was any war. Some years ago a brother, but it is not now known if he is still living or not, visited him, and he even denounced him as a fraud and drove him off the place. He had been sick some days before it became known when Mr. Stokes, a neighboring farmer, persuaded him that dissolution was near at hand and he must get ready, so he finally, after much persuasion, consented to be removed to the house of Mr. Sturgeon, where he died soon after. He leaves a good little farm, and it remains to be seen whether any relatives will put in an appearance to claim it.

—The Amphion Quartet give a concert at Monroe to-night. On Wednesday night they will give "Box & Cox" here.

—No services were held yesterday at the Baptist, Congregational, and Christ churches, the ministers being absent.

—It is stated that E. J. Cady & Co., the bookellers and stationers at Beloit, have failed, their liabilities being $10,000.

—Miss Louise Peterson, who has attended so closely to postoffice duties, started to-day for Washington for her annual vacation.

—Last night there was considerable hail east of this city, and it is reported that some pieces of corn and tobacco were greatly injured.

—L. H. Joesslin has completed his new residence in the First ward, and has commenced moving in the furniture, preparatory to occupying it.

—Mr. Van Little, who formerly lived here, and who is now a prominent builder and contractor at Leavenworth, Kansas, spent Sunday in the city.

—The Strasburg clock was to-day taken to Watertown where it is to remain a week on exhibition. The proprietor says he did well in Janesville, and that "they don't often strike such a town as this."

—August Bugge was arrested to-day for assaulting Dr. Whiting's son, Joseph, last Friday. The boy claims that his kite got away and landed in Bugge's field and that when he went after it, Bugge hit him with a whip, raising some ridges on his legs.

—Next Wednesday night the Amphion Quartet are to give "Box & Cox" at Lappin's Music Hall. The reserved seats are placed at thirty-five cents and the general admission twenty-five cents. The sale of seats has already commenced at King's bookstore.

—In the Circuit Court to-day the Clinton will case was settled by a decision to the effect that S. W. Searles & Co. were indebted to C. G. Cooper & Co., of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, to the amount of $3,635.16, all of which except $20 is a lien on the property.

—Rev. R. L. Cheaney, of Bloomington, Wis., preached at the Presbyterian church yesterday. He is a son of Father Cheaney, of Emerald Grove, and had many friends and acquaintances here who gladly improved this opportunity of hearing him. They were not disappointed.

—The other evening a Second warder was out walking with his four-year-old boy, when the little fellow noticed, a short distance ahead, something that did not seem right to his infantile mind, and asked—"Papa, what has that fellow got his arm around that woman for? Is she blind?"

—The Marshal has not yet got together that posse of men to clean out the gutter on St. Mary's avenue, as ordered by the Common Council. There being some difference of opinion as to whether the city has the right to do so, the matter is to rest quiet until another meeting of the Council.

—It don't look as if the mercury was going to get down to zero but it is just the same, and E. T. Foote is already getting ready to supply the shivering ones. He claims first prize on early receipts of fall and winter clothing. Saturday he received five cases of underwear, and a fine lot of suitings, so the thermometer can't take him by surprise.

—Rev. Mr. Simmons, of Madison, preached a very interesting discourse at All Souls church yesterday on "Covetousness." He mentioned incidentally the fact that he saw the pastor of All Souls church last week in a position where he would not have given up his knowledge of the swimming art for all the money he had saved during his pastorate.

—One of our city clericals prepared a sermon for his hearers yesterday on the text "We will ride on horses," in which he taught that the church must walk instead of ride. Yesterday morning he went to the stable to take out the horse to ride to church, and found that animal so lame that it could not be driven. A practical opportunity to practice as well as to preach.

—The Unity office, in Chicago, have published in neat card form a set of rules for making home pleasant. One of these cards has been kindly placed upon our table by Rev. Mr. Jones, and we have read it with pleasure. The rule "Be prompt at every meal hour" is one which we have observed for years, and as nothing is said about early rising, we think on the whole the rules are about right.

—Jack Sullivan was arrested on Saturday night on the charge of fighting on the streets. It is claimed that he was with Kelly and O'Hara when the Marshal had a set-to with them in Wulff's saloon, and that he urged the other boys on, and that after leaving the saloon he struck a young fellow named Skinner, who was standing on the sidewalk. The Marshal thinks Sullivan is the same fellow who kicked him during the scuffle in the saloon, but this may be difficult to prove.

—Arc Sutherland, son of Hon. James Sutherland, left this morning for Harvard, intending to return this evening. While the train was stopping at Clinton he got off, and in trying to jump from the railroad track onto the platform, he tumbled and his left leg was broken again in just the same place where it was broken a short time ago. The former injury to his leg had not fully been repaired and the bone was in such a condition that it took but little to rebreak it. Dr. Loomis was immediately sent for, and after attending to the injury brought young Sutherland back on this afternoon's train. That leg seems to be an unlucky one as it is the third time it has been broken.

ARRANGING WAGES.

Last week the managers of the shoe factory notified the employees that on and after to-day there would be a reduction in wages of ten per cent. The employees met last Friday night and considered the matter, and voted to request a conference to be held Saturday, at which employers and employees should participate. Some of the directors being necessarily absent from the city on Saturday, the conference was not held, and this morning most of the men employed in the factory did not go to work. They claimed that by their going to work they acquiesced in the reduction of wages, and so they waited until a conference could be had. The girls employed in the factory remained at work, however, and a few of the men. This forenoon the employees and employers met at the factory and talked over the situation. It appears that on taking the inventory about a month ago, a reduction was made in the wages of some of the employees. The ten per cent reduction added to this would make some of the wages extremely low. After talking over the matter a decision was reached by which some of the employees' wages remain as before, and others are subjected to a slight reduction. The conference was peaceable, and friendly feelings seemed to prevail. Everything was settled to the satisfaction of all concerned, and work was resumed as usual.

DETERMINED BURGLARS.

Saturday night burglars were abroad again, and made a bold raid on the residence of Eugene Rich in the First ward. Mr. and Mrs. Rich were away from home, and Miss Mattie McChesney sat alone, waiting for the return of the hired girl, who was out to some party. About eleven o'clock Miss McChesney heard a peculiar noise at the front of the house, and soon became convinced that some one was prowling about trying to effect an entrance. She became somewhat alarmed, but going out did not see any one. She hurried over to Mr. Botsford's and remained there until about 12 o'clock, when thinking that she had perhaps been needlessly alarmed, she returned and went to bed. About 3 o'clock the hired girl returned, and on reaching the house found the door open. Further examination showed that two other doors, which Miss McChesney had also locked on retiring, were open. This convinced them that burglars had been working the house. The hired girl said she met a man near the house, who was in his stocking feet, and she had good reason for thinking he was one of the parties. After locking the doors again, Miss McChesney and the girl prepared for rest, but before retiring concluded to make a thorough inspection of the house. While doing so some one, who had evidently been concealed in the house all of the time, skipped out through one of the doors, and escaped. Nothing was found missing, the thieves evidently having had their time pretty well occupied in taking care of their own safety.

IMMERSION OF THREE CLERGYMEN.

One day last week three well-known clergymen—Rev. Mr. Simmons, of Madison, Rev. Mr. Jones, of this city, and Rev. Mr. Herbert, of Geneva, in company with three laymen, indulged in a boating party on Lake Mendota. The ride was all right, but the trip over wasn't. The boat insisting on giving its keel a chance to see what was above the water, the whole party were given a like chance to see what was under the water. Their escape from drowning was a narrow one. They fortunately managed to cling to the boat until help arrived in the form of a little boat which first took three of the party to the shore, a distance of three quarters of a mile, and then came back and got the other three. The clergymen insist stoutly that the whole affair was under the management of the laymen, and that they alone must bear the responsibility. The laymen have not been heard from on the subject. It is safe to say that the next time they go on the lake they will have a flat boat, or else will wear rubber suits.

ATTENTION, EXCURSIONISTS!

The committee having in charge the excursion wish to urge upon their friends the necessity of procuring their tickets as early as Wednesday evening, as the small margin on which they run the train and the low price they have placed the tickets, will not warrant them in ordering more cars than tickets are sold for at that time. This undoubtedly will be the finest excursion train ever run out of this city, all the coaches being first class, and a smoking car provided for those who prefer. Every person buying a ticket before Wednesday evening will be guaranteed a good seat, and each and every knight will do his utmost to make the patrons of this, their annual excursion, comfortable, and the day one to be remembered by all who participate. The cars are all numbered from the rear of the train, No. 1 being the rear car.

Per order Committee of Arrangements.

CATAMARAN CAPSIZED.

A Yacht with Nearly Fifty Passengers Capsized in Lake Geneva Last Night.

The Full Particulars.

To the Editor:
GENEVA, Aug. 11.—Thinking that you might be desirous of the facts in regard to the foundering of the Catamaran, at Geneva Lake, yesterday, I send you this letter, being one of the party who were on the boat.

At about four o'clock Sunday afternoon, a party of us who were camping at Porter's Landing, thought we would get together a company and take a sail upon a Catamaran pleasure yacht, which had just arrived from Matengo Park. So, getting together our party, we boarded the yacht and were soon jingling down the lake before a spanking breeze, and never deemed it possible that any accident could occur upon a Catamaran which is generally deemed the safest kind of a sailboat. Our party consisted of about thirty adults and seventeen children. This was altogether a larger party than should have been allowed upon the yacht. Our ride was a beautiful one until we reached a point opposite Kayes' Park, when we turned about and commenced tacking to return to Porter's. From this time, I, among others, noticed that one side of the boat, or boats, was gradually sinking under water, but did not comprehend the reason until just as we were approaching a point about five or six hundred feet from the pier at Harvard Park. Then the side of the boat rapidly sank in the water, and she was soon on her beam ends in the water with the whole party of men, women and children hanging in the water or clinging to her side in the greatest distress, expecting momentarily to see our last support sink beneath its heavy load of human freight, and ourselves left at the mercy of the waves with helpless women and children on our hands, who must many of them have found a watery grave. It was a trying moment and a thrilling one, such as I hope never to participate in again. But never did I see a more self-possessed party than this one at this crisis of danger, and to this and the generous assistance of the people of Harvard park (to whom the heartfelt thanks of that water-soaked party are most cordially tendered), may be attributed the fortunate saving of the life of every one in the party. Of the assistance of the Harvard Park people too much praise cannot be given. Ladies sprang into boats regardless of apparel and pulled for their lives, out alone into the lake to save the shipwrecked ones, and most nobly did they succeed. Except the serious temporary illness of two of our party, (who are better to-day), and the thorough ducking received by the whole group, we are all right this morning.

Yours &c.,

"ALEXIS."

Pre-eminent.

as an elegant hair dressing stands Parker's Hair Balsam, deservedly popular for the beautiful hair it produces, and its cleansing and healing properties. Commencing at the root, it promotes a luxuriant growth of young hair and unfailingly restores gray or faded hair to its original youthful color, giving a soft, rich and lustrous appearance of great beauty. It is pleasantly cooling to the scalp, cleanses it from dandruff, cures itching and humors, and stops falling of the hair. It is perfectly harmless, exqu岸ely perfumed, never soils the skin, gains the hair, and pleases every lady by its manifold excellent and attractive qualities. A patron assures us that he has used 12 different hair preparations and that Parker's Hair Balsam surpasses them all. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1.00 by all first-class druggists.

CITY NOTICES.

When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable matter. Persons who study hard should preserve their balance of power by using the Syrup.

GENERAL EFFECTS OF FELLOWS'
Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

"It is Perfectly Safe, and the Taste Pleasant."

THE first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. Its effect on the mucous membrane is such that every expectoration is produced; not only are the air passages easily voided of the secretion already deposited, but its collection is carried on in a healthy manner, while the formation of tubercle is retarded. The rapidity with which patient's take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates "at no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened and the blood purified.

FELLOWS'
Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

Speedily and permanently cures Consumption of the Lungs, Bronchitis, Consumption, Nervous Prostration, Shortness of Breath, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling of the Hands and Limbs, Physical and Mental Depression, Loss of Appetite, Loss of Energy, Loss of Memory. It will rapidly improve the weakened functions and organs of the body, which depend for health upon voluntary, semi-voluntary and involuntary nervous action. It acts with vigor, gentleness, and subtlety owing to the exquisite harmony of its ingredients, skin to pure blood itself. Its taste is pleasant, and its effects permanent.
